Parking Area for 2 Gardenway Expands By Ten Spaces as Board Okays Change

by Mavis Fletcher

Almost two years after the residents of 2 Court of Gardenway presented a parking petition which led to a whole new parking policy for Greenbelt Homes, Inc., the board of directors, at a special meeting on August 6, authorized the construction of additional parking spaces in that court.

The board approved the construction of ten new spaces in accordance with a plan (known as Scheme B) which was one of four that had been presented to the court. According to David Hunt, as spokesman for the court members, 15 of the 18 residents chose Scheme B, two preferred another plan and one did not respond to the survey. While all the parking plans involve some loss of green space, Scheme B will require the least.

Hunt also reported on other aspects of the parking agreed to by the 13 members who attended a court picnic on July 26: that a speed bump be installed in the entrance to the court, that a warning sign about children at play be put up, and that court parking be used for court members instead of bringing more people into the court.

The last point refers to a plan, already approved by the board, to utilize some of the excess parking in the 2 Court of Gardenway to provide reserved parking for some members of nearby courts where parking is insufficient. At present the court has four parking spaces and 33 garages for 18 members. The additional ten spaces to be constructed will bring the total number of parking places (spaces and garages) to 47.

Under the approved parking policy, ten members from the 25 and 27 Courts of Ridge Road will be assigned places in the 2 Court of Gardenway. According to GHI Assistant Manager Steve Wright, if the demand for open spaces exceeds the number available, the open spaces will be allocated to members of the three courts on the basis of how long they have lived in the community.

If members prefer to rent a garage as their assigned space, they will be allowed to do so. Some garages are now rented by members from outside the parking area. Rental agreements for these garages can be terminated, if necessary, Wright said. In that case, he indicated, substitute garages, if possible, would be offered to the displaced members.

In regard to the speed bump suggestion, Director Betty Deitch asked if the area had sufficient light so that the speed bump would not be a hazard to pedestrians at night. She was assured by the residents present at the board meeting that the area is lighted and that the bump would be adequately visible if painted with yellow paint.

Board Vote

On a motion by Director Andrea Haslinger, the board voted 5-1 to approve construction of the ten additional parking spaces in the court. Director Ray McCawley opposed the motion, saying that the new parking policy has not been given a chance to work in the 2 Court of Gardenway. (In the absence of GHI President Margaret Hogensen, Vice-President Wayne Williams was presiding. Due to a prior commitment, Director Chuck Hess arrived after the vote.)

Boiler Room Sale Discussed

GHI Manager Ron Colton, in his memorandum to the board, reported an offer to purchase one of the small boiler rooms by the member who owns the adjacent unit. The member intends to convert the boiler room to living space. The members offer, however, was $1000 for the premises, with GHI removing the boiler, or $1 with the member removing the boiler. (In the only two completed sales of other boiler rooms, the corporation has received $1000 and the member has removed the boiler.)

Colton noted that the cost of removing the boiler has jumped considerably since the other rooms were sold. Although he had no firm figures, he estimated the cost at more than a thousand dollars. He also outlined some other benefits to GHI which could be expected from the sale of this boiler room: the area, he said, has been the source of numerous complaints about dumping and about people's using the space in front of the building for car repair, boat washing and oil changing. Runoff from these activities follows a swale across the yard of the neighbor, who wishes to make the purchase. Colton indicated that incorporating the area in front of the boiler room into the member's fenced yard would solve some problems for GHI.

Members of the board, however, had problems with the idea of transferring a boiler room to a member with little or no compensation. Director Mac Wirick, who said that he didn't dispute the fact that there would be advantages to GHI if the boiler room were sold, was reluctant to go along with giving one away for a dollar. "The parcel of land for a dollar is quite a gift," he said. Director Nancy Hutchins also said that the board has a responsibility to arrive at a fair price for the property.

Lucille Jacoby, chair of the Audit Committee, asked whether the other members who purchased boiler rooms had gained some yard space with them and was assured that they had.

Colton suggested that some arrangement might be worked out for the member to pay the same price as the previous purchasers, with the payment being made at resale time or financed over a longer period of time. The board, by consensus, sent the matter back to the management staff to try to work out an agreement with the prospective purchaser.

Privacy Screen Denied

The board denied permission to Ben Goldfaden, member at 26-F Ridge Road, to construct a 6-foot high privacy fence around two sides of his yard. The total length of the proposed fence would have been about 88 feet—40 feet down the side of the yard (where a 24-foot privacy screen once existed but is now partially collapsed) and 48 feet on the back property line which runs along a path.

Goldfaden had the permission of all his neighbors, but the board, backed up by a recommendation for denial from the Architectural and Environment Committee, See PARKING, p. 6, col. 5

City Hears Rockville Team Discuss Anti-Drug Program

by Steve Galanis

Representatives from a cross-section of city government, including public safety and social services, attended a council work session Monday August 10 to get a feel for how municipalities can fight drug abuse.

Guest speakers at the session, Don Vandrey and Rusty Wallace from the city of Rockville, explained how last fall's "Rockville Says No" campaign against drugs was conducted. Vandrey, Rockville's Assistant City Manager, and Wallace, its Youth Services Division Supervisor, also discussed the campaign's accomplishments.

During their presentation, which was followed by a question and answer period, Vandrey and Wallace emphasized a city's need to have an adequate size counseling staff in place when undertaking a drug education campaign. Calling Rockville's experiment essentially a "message saturation campaign," the highlight of which was a one week crusade of rallies in 22 local schools, Wallace said the campaign would have been very shallow if there had not been enough counselors available for people seeking help. Other ingredients for a successful campaign, according to Vandrey and Wallace, were the active support of the mayor and council, and a program that did not depend on outside people.

Although the purpose of Rockville's program last fall was to educate all citizens about the dangers of drug abuse, and to help them talk about it, Wallace acknowledged that enforcement was also necessary. Since the campaign, he said Montgomery County and Rockville police have put together a "jump out" squad to get some of the dealers dealing openly on the streets.

"You can't deal with (drug abuse) just with a youth services bureau; just with education—you have to have enforcement as well," Wallace said.

At the conclusion of the presentation, the mayor and council directed a few questions to members of the city's own police department about how local police departments were mobilizing against drug trafficking. Responses from several attending officers indicated that cooperation between city and county police departments on the drug problem was generally poor, and that instead, state/city arrangements were being tried.

James Craze, Greenbelt's Police Chief, and Carol Leventhal, director of the city's Youth Services Bureau, also attended the presentation.

50 Years Ago In Greenbelt

by Sandra Barnes

Greenbelt pioneer Harry Falls chronicled the town's early days in a scrapbook which he presented to the city in honor of the 50th Anniversary. One part of the scrapbook contains articles from a variety of newspapers which discuss the selection process for Greenbelt's first families, which occurred in the summer of 1937.

A sociologist and historian, Dr. Walter Lund, headed the selection division of the Resettlement Administration (RA) in charge of screening applicants for the new town of Greenbelt.

It was reported that there were three general criteria. The first was that the family's income had to fall between $1,200 and $2,000 annually. The second was that the family had to be able to make use of the Greenbelt facilities. Judgments in this category were made through personal interviews which assessed "the family's general intelligence and living standards as indicated by its housekeeping in its present home."

The third criterion was "a desire to participate in this particular type of community." This was determined by the interviewer through "the family's understanding of the cooperative features of Greenbelt and interest in taking an active part in the work of a self-governing community." A committee of Prince Georges County citizens also participated in the selection process by advising Dr. Lund on applicants' qualifications.

Although Greenbelt was gaining respectability in some circles during this period, the local press still insisted on referring to it as "Tugwelltown" after the FDR "Brain Trust" who conceived and headed the Resettlement Administration, Rexford Guy Tugwell.

One newspaper commented that the trip to Tugwelltown was well worth a visit "just to take in the color scheme. About half the houses are whitewashed and have a broad colored band painted across the front of the second story. Doors and window frames are painted to harmonize with the stripes.

"For example, houses with a baby blue stripe have dark blue doors, those with a lavender stripe have purple doors, those with an orchid stripe have deep orange doors, those with a pale green stripe have dark green doors and those with a lemon

CITY NOTES

The city received notice that acquisition of the PEPCO Substation property by the city was approved by the PEPCO Board of Directors at the previously agreed to price of $45,675. A tentative settlement date has been scheduled for September 1, 1987.

Reconstruction of Eastway and Hillside Road by NZI Construction began Monday, August 17. This project is funded by community development block grant funds.

The special details crew worked on the street lights in the city parking lot. A new conduit was installed to relocate one of the lights.

The general crew repaired Mandan Road in Windsor Green. The crew used approximately 8 tons of asphalt to make a temporary patch 200 feet in length covering the entire right-of-way. The crew also worked on the drain line around the Public Works Maintenance Building.

Recently, the general crew worked on concrete work in Lakewood, backfilling behind the sidewalk. They also worked on preparing the area for the public works trailer and assisted with refuse collection.

Meanwhile, the special detail crew worked on the police trailer, assisted with special trash and refuse collection and assisted the parks crew with preparing planting areas for flower beds.

Both the general and special details crews have been working on the program for expansion of the public works yard.

The bus dial-a-ride operation is now in service six days per week; requests are continually picking up.

All crews assisted with trash collection recently due to the intense heat. Additional crewmen were placed on the trash crews daily.

The special trash crew continues to be approximately five working days behind in their collection due to the high rate of requests.

The parks crew continued with general park maintenance. The horticulturist continued his efforts to beautify Southway Road and other areas throughout the city.

The new backhoe loader for the parks crew was delivered and has been put into service.

Volksmarch to Be Held In Greenbelt Sept. 5-6

The Freestate Happy Wanderers are holding a volksmarch in Greenbelt September 5-6. The occasion is the 50th anniversary of the town of Greenbelt.

The volksmarch will go through the old town center and around the parks in the greenbelt. Although metropolitan Washington, D.C. has pushed to Greenbelt and beyond, there are many attractive parks. The continued existence of these parks is a result of community opposition to unplanned development in the 1960's.

So come and walk in Maryland and see the Greenbelt of 1937 after 50 years. For information call Roger Turczynski 674-5518 or Paul Sabol 345-2830.

MOONLIGHT SWIM TO BE AT SHL ON AUGUST 20

OPEN LETTER

Hal Kassoff
State Highway Administrator
707 N. Calvert Street
Baltimore, MD 21202
Dear Mr. Kassoff:

As a representative of the citizens of Greenbelt, Maryland, I was as shocked as they to find out that the extension of Kenilworth Avenue had jumped to the number two spot on the county's priority list of road improvements. This without any warning from the Executive's office last week. Greenbelt has historically and unanimously opposed such an extension over the years that the proposal has been discussed, because a tie-in to a major east-west highway would funnel all the traffic from central Montgomery County through Greenbelt.

In addition, the proposed road would only open up more developments. There needs to be relief now from the development already in place in Greenbelt. It as a city, has suffered singularly from the county's economic development policies more than any other locality in the county. The roads your agency says are needed must go somewhere else. Greenbelt has suffered enough.

From our standpoint this is an unnecessary expansion and extension. Incidentally, the city has no problem with the reasonable expansion of the four-lane access needed a bit further for the Capitol Office Park, just past the city limits. But when the scenario is to develop this extension in tandem with the proposed extension of the Inter-County Connector, then we insist the State Highway Administration has gone too far in "dumping" on the citizens of the 23rd District. Despite Mr. Derro's assurances that these roads will give options and flexibility to Greenbelt's problems, anyone who has been around for more than five years knows that it will do just the opposite. The cycle, in fact, is the immediate lessening of grid-lock only to be followed by more development and worsening gridlock.

One last point, the important research going on at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Farm is also jeopardized by this proposal—important experiments in the disposal of solid waste technology (one of the hottest issues facing our county these days) are in place and are ongoing. The taking of this acreage for the expansion of Kenilworth would not only endanger these experiments, but in the long run, would endanger the future of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center itself.

I wish to add my voice to those in vehement opposition to the extension of Kenilworth Avenue. Please notify my office when this proposal is to come before the Transportation Oversight Committee.

Delegate

Dear Mike:

I am receiving numerous complaints concerning the traffic pattern at the intersection of Kenilworth Avenue and Route 193, resulting from the reconstruction of that interchange. This construction has created a very dangerous situation.

The Mayor and City Council of Greenbelt would like to work towards resolving this problem area. Would you please assist them in this matter?

Thank you for your attention and I look forward to your response.

stripe have yellow doors. "The rooms downstairs are generally painted a flat grey, but some of the bedrooms are tinted in blinding greens, blues and yellows."

"The inside of the Greenbelt theater is decorated with broad pink bands, ranging from rose at the bottom to pale pink at the top. Outside, the theater and stores are whitewashed with orange doors and trimmings."

At some point this "wild" color scheme was apparently abandoned, as most Greenbelt residents remember the exterior of the homes to be all white with a uniform dark green trim. But it is interesting to note that the original planners were far more creative in their design than those who later took charge of the town.

Harry Falls' scrapbook will become part of the collection of historical memorabilia of the Greenbelt Museum.

STANDS FOR CITY GOVERNMENT THAT RESPONDS TO THE NEEDS OF THE COMMUNITY

City government must work aggressively to protect its 'Greentown' heritage by preserving and expanding its parkland. The City should vigorously pursue greater influence over such matters as reducing traffic congestion, reducing the proliferation of signs, and limiting future development.

City government must act forcefully to resolve the lingering problem of revitalizing the Roosevelt Center. As a council member, I will work to restore the center to its historic character.

City government must address the needs of its ever growing senior population by developing programs addressing transportation, health, housing and recreation area. This cannot be done without staff and volunteers assigned to this effort. As a council member, I will work to establish necessary programs to ensure that Greenbelt seniors will continue to thrive in our community.

For too long, solutions to major problems in our City have lingered and stalled for lack of attention. I seek to serve you with a willingness to analyze the issues and make the hard decisions that will benefit the community in a fiscally efficient manner.

Fatal Shooting Follows Abduction Attempt Here

A man who fled from an off-duty police officer after trying to force a woman into a van died the day after he apparently shot himself. Police spokesman Patrick McAndrew reports that Sgt. Douglas Sappington, driving a marked patrol car on his way to report for duty about 10:30 p.m., August 15, saw a man holding a woman in a choke hold trying to force her into a 1984 Dodge van at Greenbelt Road and Southway. When the officer went to the woman's assistance, the man released her and jumped into the van, driving west on Greenbelt Road with the officer in pursuit. At a point near the Greenbelt Convalescent Home the van climbed the median strip and came to a stop at the intersection of Greenbelt Road and Lakecrest Drive.

Sgt. Sappington, with the assistance of back-up officers who had responded to the scene, approached the van and found the suspect in the front seat suffering from a single gunshot wound to the head. A .22 caliber revolver was in the van beside him. He was transported to Prince Georges General Hospital by ambulance and admitted to the Critical Care Unit, where he was pronounced dead the next day at about 5:30 p.m. He was identified as a resident of the District of Columbia.

Police investigators have determined that the wound was self-inflicted but could not tell if the weapon had been discharged accidentally or if suicide had been attempted, says McAndrew.

The victim of the attempted abduction, a 38-year-old woman, was not injured. According to McAndrew the man was a former boy-friend.

Police Arrest Three Men In Narcotics Crackdown

As part of a continuing crackdown on drug trafficking in the city, Greenbelt Police in conjunction with the Maryland State Police arrested three men about 12:30 a.m., August 13 following a controlled purchase of cocaine in the vicinity of Beltway Plaza.

According to police spokesman Patrick McAndrew, an undercover officer contacted the suspects in a Beltway Plaza restaurant, then went with them to the rear of the Shell Food Mart on Cherrywood Lane, where they sold him a quantity of cocaine. The officer then identified himself and was able to hold one of the suspects while the other two ran to a nearby car and fled up Breezewood Drive to Edmonston Road. Police back-up units followed in pursuit. The suspects were stopped and arrested at Edmonston and Greenbelt Roads, where a police road-block had been set up.

Charged with distribution of a controlled dangerous substance (cocaine) and conspiracy to distribute were Clifford D. Dewey, 21, of 3117 Fallston Avenue, Beltsville; Paul A. Diaz, 19, of 5519 Nicholson Street, Riverdale and Michael D. Sullivan, 18, of 10813 Pleasant Acres Drive, Adelphi. Dewey was also charged with resisting arrest. Diaz was incarcerated in the county jail in lieu of $20,000 bond. Dewey and Sullivan were released to their parents on personal recognizance pending court action.

Police anticipate further arrests in a continuing crackdown on illicit narcotics trafficking in Greenbelt, says McAndrew.

Do water irrigating devices help prevent decay?

The primary purpose of water irrigating devices is to flush out loose food particles. Since the pulsating jet of water cannot dislodge and remove plaque from the teeth, these devices are not considered a substitute for proper brushing and flossing. Only by completely removing plaque daily, can decay be prevented.

If you wear braces or have one or more bridges replacing missing teeth, your dentist may recommend using an oral irrigator as an additional means of improving oral hygiene. Care must be used to avoid too much water pressure. Check with your family dentist to see if an oral irrigator can benefit you and for advice on how to properly use it.

DEVELOPMENT and REDEVELOPMENT ED PUTENS

More and more of the Council's business deals in one way or another with development. Specific concerns include rezoning applications, site plans, road improvements, and stormwater management, among others. The ultimate concern is good land use - a Greenbelt preoccupation since our City was conceived and built.

The tenuous balance between property owner's rights and public interest in good land use is a fact of life. Our green space has unavoidably diminished as a result of development. At the same time, however, the City's progress in land acquisition has been good. Over the past ten years the City has acquired 108 acres of parkland which represents one-third of all city-owned parkland, with another 175 acres designated for future acquisition. This has been done with strong public support - evidence that our preoccupation with good land use is a continuing tradition.

With your help, progress in land use and development will be greater in 1988 than in almost any preceding year. This means standing up to undesirable development proposals currently before the City, and effective redevelopment efforts at Roosevelt Center and the North End Center.

Roosevelt Center. With creative leadership the next year will bring decisive changes to our original commercial center, but there are pitfalls too. I believe the Council should have the following priorities:

- To insist on a cooperative ownership that will work in partnership with the City
- To establish streamlined implementation procedures that will put this revitalization effort on a fast track
- To restore the aesthetic qualities of the original center
- To preserve and renovate the Utopia Theater as our center for the performing arts
- To improve the economic viability of the Center, without which all other priorities will be compromised.

Those who have supported Roosevelt Center through the charette, the Cultural Arts Center, the Co-op, or other efforts have made its revitalization possible.

North End Center. I support the total renovation of the North End School. The Council voted $400,000 of reserve money to begin this effort, with the intent of obtaining matching Federal grants. Voters in other parts of the City should know that the cost to taxpayers will be limited - much less than the cost of razing the building, then constructing something else in its place. The building will support a day care center, a senior citizen drop in center, and space for artists and art classes.

This redevelopment idea has come this far because of the many determined citizens who believed in their cause. The economic viability of the North End Center will now have to be provided in practice, and many of those same people will be trying to ensure that.

Greenbelt East. This area of the City has been the primary focus of development activity for the past few years. With citizens help, the Council has effectively opposed excessive residential densities and promoted badly needed single-family housing, and has insisted that development be tied to road improvements, to prevent further traffic hazards. 1987-88 will be the decisive year for the remaining available land in Greenbelt East. The Council should, and I believe will oppose the two proposed rezonings soon to be before it, as they threaten one of the City's few remaining areas zoned for single-family homes. I oppose any further commercial development east of Hanover Parkway. On a brighter note, design and construction of the 40-acre Schrom Hills Park should be initiated this fall and should be completed on a priority basis.

On other land-use matters.

- I oppose Federal sale of any part of the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center
- I support the earliest possible County transfer of the Northway fields to the City, and development of a first class athletic field complex at that site.
- I oppose the owner-proposed rezoning of Parcels 1 and 2
- I oppose the County-proposed widening and expansion of Kenilworth Avenue.

In general, I believe planning, zoning, redevelopment and other land use decisions must preserve and enhance the quality of life. This is a dream worth fighting for and I will continue that fight.

'GODSPELL', IN NEW SETTING WINS ACCLAIM IN UTOPIA PRODUCTION

by Mavis Fletcher

The production of "Godspell" now being presented at Utopia Theater received the enthusiastic approval of a large audience at last Saturday night's performance. Sustained applause and appreciative laughter interrupted the action repeatedly.

The obvious approval of the theater-goers was right on target. The production pleases by its artful simplicity, its message of universal love, and its exuberant joyfulness.

"Godspell" is a rock musical based on the life of Jesus as related in the Book of Matthew, with a few parables from other parts of the Bible. The musical was first presented in 1971 in the midst of the Vietnam War and was, essentially, a message piece. While it contained enough contemporary twists to attract attention, it was basically a joyful message of Christian love set against the savagery of war.

The Utopia production still has all these characteristics but it also has a new urgency: The actor/disciples and Jesus are the only survivors of a nuclear bombardment; the time of the action is described, laconically, as "Soon." According to notes by Director Laurie Wesseley Wagner, producing director for the Greenbelt Arts Center for the past year, "Our production of Godspell begins anew. We have searched for the 1987 version of Matthew—appropriate for our time, talents, and concerns. Our actors are themselves, in a new situation. We see our own concern for the survival of humanity in a nuclear world. . . . Our eight individuals must learn to love one another because they are the only survivors."

In addition to the setting, some new lyrics have been supplied for the local production. The contemporary touches ("If God hadn't wanted me to shred, she wouldn't have given me a shredder") delighted the audience.

The production is very good and the actors first-class. It is very much an "ensemble" piece and it is both difficult and perhaps unnecessary to single out individual performances. However, Toyin Victoria Fadope, the young woman who plays Jesus, is distinguished by her role and her performance. The range of her art, from clown to crucified Christ, is remarkable.

The voices range from very good to adequate, as do the songs themselves. All the voices have to struggle against the poor acoustics of the theater. The piano accompaniment, supplied with great skill by Robert Mills, the music director of the production, is an essential feature in coping with this problem.

The production is full of graceful performances. It is well-staged, well-choreographed (by Deborah Neergaard), and well-rehearsed—a professional presentation.

"Godspell" is a show for the whole family—lively but not irreverent, feisty but not sacrilegious, exuberant and pious at the same time. The kids will find their Sunday School lessons updated and brought to life. However, the graffiti on the backdrop may take a little explaining.

"Godspell" will be performed on Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. through August 29. A mittee, was adamant. Hutchins pointed out that the GHI regulations are aimed at preserving the open, "garden community" character of the original town. She also observed that that amount of board fence represents quite a maintenance problem. She expressed concern that "the more fence we have the greater the chance that it will not be maintained" at some time in the future.

Nor was the board willing to compromise. Both management and Goldfaden had come up with compromise solutions which would have greatly reduced the amount of fencing but would still have allowed his patio to be screened. A motion by Hutchins to deny the request was passed 4-2, with Haslinger and Wirick opposed to the denial.

Labor Day Plans

According to a report from Susan Walker, acting chair of the Member and Community Relations Committee, the committee is planning a GHI information booth with a slide show and souvenir key chains at this year's Labor Day Festival.

The board also discussed plans for placing a marker in the 33 Court of Ridge Road, the location of the first unit to be occupied in the town of Greenbelt. The staff was instructed to contact the historical society to find out whether such a marker would be considered appropriate.

The next meeting of the board of directors is on August 20.

INDEPENDENT, EXPERIENCED LEADERSHIP

It is time to stop talking about preserving the green in Greenbelt — and to energetically pursue parkland acquisition.

Strong Council emphasis should be placed on utilization of available bond issue funds, reserves, and program open space grants to secure strategic parcels of land and keep them from development.

When residential or commercial development is approved, developers should be required to deed at least 10% of the parcel for park (open space) use.

If outright purchase or dedication of property is not feasible, the City should negotiate cooperatively with landowners covering all possibilities to secure open space easements for buffer strips, entrances, and streetscapes.

Council should insist on county and state actions to complete transfers of surplus school properties (at Northway fields) to the City.

Council should seek trades or compensation from the state/county when those agencies take city parkland for transportation or other uses. (For example, the City golf course is to be used for the extension of Cherrywood Lane over the beltway.)

Your support and vote will enable me to continue efforts to preserve the green in Greenbelt. I welcome your suggestions and comments and can be reached at 474-6440.

PG Council Rejects Proposal On Glenn Dale Shop Center

by Betsy Likowski

The Prince Georges County Council rejected a proposal to build a shopping center on Greenbelt Road in Glenn Dale. At its meeting in mid-May, the county council opposed the proposal to build the Bell Station Shopping Center on the northwest corner of the intersection of Annapolis Road (Md. 450) and Md. 193.

The Bell Station Shopping Center was to have been 200,000 square feet located on a 30.58 acre tract. This area is currently zoned rural residential housing (RR) and the developer had requested a zoning change to commercial shopping center (C-S-C).

The County Council had approved the zoning change in early November 1985 despite the opposition to the rezoning of council members Richard Castaldi and Jo Ann Bell. Also opposed were: the Zoning Hearing Examiner, the Prince Georges County Planning Board and staff, the Historic Preservation Commission, the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission, local citizens, and the Glenn Dale Citizens Association.

The Greenbelt City Council had written a letter expressing concern that the project would increase the already heavy traffic on Greenbelt Road.

Special Study

At its November 18, 1985 meeting, the County Council agreed to a special study of the Md. 193 corridor, as proposed by Castaldi and Bell. Vigorous citizen pressure and the possibility of an appeal to the Circuit Court were factors in the county council's decision to delay final action on the rezoning.

The purpose of the study was to determine how the commercial rezoning application would fit in with plans for the area. The council expressed concern that zoning decisions made in the present could undermine the master plan proposals and establish a precedent for further commercial development.

In July the completed study recommended rejecting the Bell Station proposal.

Opponents of the commercial rezoning for the Bell Station had argued that rezoning the property for commercial development would be going against the recommendations of the Master Plan for Glenn Dale, Seabrook, Lanham and Vicinity. The way could be opened for development for the other three corners of the intersection, it was argued.

Opponents also cited increased traffic, storm runoff problems, and incompatibility with nearby historic sites (Marietta Mansion north of the property and Magruder-Brannon House to the east). Nearby residents were worried that a shopping center would change the character of the rural-like suburban neighborhood.

The developer had argued that the character of the neighborhood had already changed with the opening of the dual highway Md. 193.

The Bell Station Shopping Center was to have been developed by Ted Lerner, who developed the Greenbelt Hilton and renovated the Springhill Lake Apartments.

Also on May 12 the county council denied a proposal by developer J. Earl Henderson to build a shopping center at the southeast corner of Md. 193 and Md. 450.

SENIORS' SOFTBALL

by Jerry Conway

The Greenbelt Seniors prevailed against the Dundalk Seniors of Baltimore County at Braden Field on Wednesday morning, August 12 by the smashing score of 16-9. This victory marks the first win against the Dundalk Seniors, the Maryland State champions of 1986 and 1985.

Greenbelt's next game with them will be on September 10 at Olney, Maryland in a challenge for the Maryland State championship of 1987. Greenbelt was the first team in Maryland to win a game against them; in fact, it was their first loss in 32 games, and Greenbelt was the first team ever to score ten runs in one inning against them.

The following players did outstanding fielding and hitting

The Greenbelt Seniors Softball team is grateful to the Greenbelt

American Legion for sponsoring the team this year. The team appreciates their generous aid in hosting one visiting and challenging team. It was also inspiring to have some adults as well as Greenbelt youth cheering the team to victory.

Bavarian-Austrian Dancers To Perform at Center Mall
